

The A. R. of E. Weekly News Service group consists of several hundred independent writers and editors, including those in the labor, business, and political fields, and maintains information of benefit to the trade union press.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

WEEKLY NEWS SERVICE SUPPLEMENT

WILLIAM GREEN, President

WASHINGTON, D. C. FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1947

GEORGE HARRIS, Secretary-Treasurer

Join the FIGHT
MARCH
OF DIMES
JANUARY 15-30

Utilities Anti-Strike Bill Assailed As Step to Compulsory Arbitration

Washington, D. C.—Stern columnist of the Herald Tribune is a powerful critic of the public utility bill which was introduced in the House by Representative William C. Sullivan, of Illinois, and which was introduced in the Senate by Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon. The bill, which is known as the "Public Utility Anti-Strike Act," is designed to prevent strikes in the public utility industry. It is a step toward compulsory arbitration, which is a system in which the government intervenes in labor disputes to prevent strikes. The bill is being introduced at a time when there is a growing concern over the possibility of strikes in the public utility industry. The bill is being introduced by a group of Republicans who are opposed to the New Deal. They are arguing that the bill is a necessary step to prevent strikes in the public utility industry. They are also arguing that the bill is a necessary step to prevent the government from intervening in labor disputes. The bill is being introduced in the House by Representative William C. Sullivan, of Illinois, and in the Senate by Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon. The bill is being introduced at a time when there is a growing concern over the possibility of strikes in the public utility industry. The bill is being introduced by a group of Republicans who are opposed to the New Deal. They are arguing that the bill is a necessary step to prevent strikes in the public utility industry. They are also arguing that the bill is a necessary step to prevent the government from intervening in labor disputes.

Ranks of Teachers to Shrink As Living Costs Increase

Washington, D. C.—Increasing costs of living are forcing teachers to leave the profession in large numbers, according to a report by the National Education Association. The report states that the average teacher's salary in 1946 was $2,400, but that the cost of living had increased by 15% since 1945. This means that the average teacher's salary is now only $2,040, which is not enough to cover the cost of living. As a result, many teachers are leaving the profession to find other work. The report also states that the number of teachers in the United States is expected to decrease by 10% in the next five years. This is a serious problem for the education system, as teachers are the backbone of the schools. The National Education Association is calling on the government to take action to increase teachers' salaries and to provide them with better working conditions. They are also calling on the public to support their teachers and to ensure that they have the resources they need to do their jobs.

Unions Rallying to Battle Call Against Anti-Labor Measures

TWA Pilots Assured $1,000 Monthly Under Contract Drafted by AFL Union

Chicago—Members of the Air Line Pilots' Association (ALPA) on Tuesday night rallied to support a call for action against anti-labor measures. The rally was held in the city hall and was attended by hundreds of pilots. They were protesting against a bill introduced in the House by Representative William C. Sullivan, of Illinois, which would prevent strikes in the airline industry. The pilots are also protesting against a contract drafted by the AFL union for TWA pilots, which would guarantee them a salary of $1,000 per month. The pilots are arguing that this contract is unfair and that it would prevent them from negotiating their own terms. They are also arguing that the contract is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. The pilots are calling on the government to take action to prevent the passage of the bill and to ensure that they have the right to negotiate their own terms.

Aroused By Proposals To Penalize Workers Asking New Benefits

Washington, D. C.—Organized labor throughout the nation is building up a campaign of strong resistance to national and state legislative proposals for punitive labor measures. The campaign is being led by the American Federation of Labor (AFL) and is aimed at preventing the passage of bills that would penalize workers for asking for new benefits. The bills being targeted include the Taft-Hartley Act, which would restrict the rights of workers to join unions, and the Smith-Connally Act, which would restrict the rights of workers to strike. The AFL is arguing that these bills are a violation of the National Labor Relations Act and that they would prevent workers from negotiating their own terms. They are also arguing that the bills are a violation of the Constitution. The AFL is calling on the government to take action to prevent the passage of the bills and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

Rail Clerks Ready to Open Big Membership Campaign

Chicago, Ill.—Strategy for a broad campaign throughout this year to recruit new members into the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks (BRC) was outlined by the union's national executive committee. The committee is planning to launch a major membership drive in the next few months. They are targeting new recruits in the railroad industry, particularly in the areas of freight and passenger service. The BRC is currently one of the largest unions in the railroad industry, but it is facing competition from other unions. The committee is arguing that the BRC is the only union that represents the interests of railroad clerks. They are also arguing that the BRC has a strong record of fighting for its members. The committee is calling on the public to support the BRC and to encourage new members to join.

Insecurity Increases Tension Among United States Groups, Parley Told

Referring economic insecurity since the end of the war, a parley of representatives of various groups in the United States, including labor unions, business groups, and government officials, is being held in Washington, D. C. The parley is being organized by the National Conference on Labor-Management Relations. The participants are discussing the impact of economic insecurity on labor-management relations and are seeking ways to improve the relationship. They are also discussing the need for new legislation to address the issues. The parley is being held at a time when there is a growing concern over the possibility of strikes in the public utility industry. The participants are arguing that the government should take action to prevent strikes and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

American Atomic Commission Okays AFL Contract Providing Check-Off

Atlanta—An AFL union contract with the manufacturers of atomic energy for civilian use was approved by the Atomic Energy Commission. The contract, which was negotiated by the American Federation of Labor (AFL) and the Atomic Energy Commission, provides for a check-off system for union dues. This means that the commission will automatically deduct union dues from the wages of its employees. The commission is also approving the contract's provisions for grievance arbitration and for the right to join or leave the union. The commission is arguing that the contract is a fair and reasonable agreement. They are also arguing that the contract is a necessary step to ensure that the atomic energy industry is operated in a safe and efficient manner.

SHELL FISH WORKERS WIN RECOGNITION IN VIRGINIA

Atlanta, Ga.—Representatives of the Brotherhood of Shell Fish Workers (BSFW) have been successful in securing recognition from the Virginia State Board of Labor Relations. The board has agreed to recognize the BSFW as the exclusive bargaining agent for shell fish workers in the state. This is a significant victory for the union, as it will allow them to negotiate better wages and working conditions for their members. The BSFW is also arguing that the board's decision is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the board's decision and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

RAILWAY CLERKS IN CANADA WIN RAISES FOR TWO GROUPS

Ottawa, Canada—Members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks (BRC) in Canada have won raises for two groups of their members. The Canadian National Railway (CNR) has agreed to increase the salaries of its clerical employees by 10%. The Canadian Pacific Railway (CPR) has also agreed to increase the salaries of its clerical employees by 10%. These raises are a significant victory for the BRC, as they show that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The BRC is also arguing that the raises are a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raises and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

SIGNALMEN ON TWO ROADS GRANTED WAGE INCREASES

Chicago—A drive to increase wages for signalmen on two major roads in the Chicago area has been successful. The American Federation of Labor (AFL) has negotiated a new contract with the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, which provides for a 10% wage increase for signalmen. The AFL is also negotiating a new contract with the Illinois Central Railroad Company, which also provides for a 10% wage increase for signalmen. These victories are a significant step toward improving the wages and working conditions of signalmen. The AFL is also arguing that the raises are a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raises and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

MEAT CUTTERS IN GEORGIA GRANTED WAGE INCREASE

Columbus, Ga.—The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen (AMCBUW) have won a wage increase from the Georgia Meat Packers Association. The association has agreed to increase the salaries of its meat cutters by 10%. This is a significant victory for the union, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AMCBUW is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NEW EMPLOYERS ORGANIZE

Atlanta, Ga.—More than 300 new employers have joined the Georgia Federation of Employers (GFE). The GFE is a new organization that was formed to represent employers in the state. It is currently negotiating with the Georgia State Board of Labor Relations. The GFE is arguing that the board's decision to recognize the BSFW is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the board's decision and to ensure that employers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO DROP $110,000 Before July

Washington, D. C.—Plans to drop $110,000 from the federal budget for the fiscal year ending in June 1947 are being considered by the House of Representatives. The plan is being proposed by the House Budget Committee. The committee is arguing that the plan is necessary to reduce the federal deficit. They are also arguing that the plan is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the plan and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

CANNONALLY PICKED TO HEAD LABOR STANDARDS OFFICE

Secretary of Labor Stephen M. McNary has announced that he has appointed William C. Cannon to head the new Labor Standards Office. Cannon is a former labor leader and is well-known for his work in the labor movement. He is being appointed to head the office because of his experience and his reputation as a fair and impartial mediator. The office is being created to oversee the implementation of the National Labor Relations Act. Cannon is arguing that the office is a necessary step to ensure that the Act is properly enforced. He is also arguing that the office is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. He is calling on the government to take action to prevent the office and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

FURNISHING SHOPS SIGN

Atlanta, Ga.—Furnishings shops in the Atlanta area have signed a new contract with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (UBCA). The contract provides for a 10% wage increase for the shops' employees. This is a significant victory for the UBCA, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The UBCA is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

DOCK TRUCKERS GAIN

New Orleans, La.—The Teamsters Local 604 have won a wage increase from the Gulf States Petroleum Corporation. The corporation has agreed to increase the salaries of its dock truckers by 10%. This is a significant victory for the Teamsters, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The Teamsters are also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

117.75 HOURS PRIORITIES ISSUED IN NINE STATES

Washington, D. C.—Regional Emergency Director Charles E. Harn of the National Housing Agency has announced that he has issued 117.75 hours of priorities in nine states. The priorities are being issued to help with the reconstruction of the states after the war. The priorities are being issued to the states of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia. The priorities are being issued to the states because of the damage that was done to the states during the war. The priorities are being issued to the states to help them rebuild and to ensure that they have the resources they need to do so.

GARMENT WORKERS WIN

New York, N. Y.—The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (UBCA) has won a wage increase from the New York State Board of Labor Relations. The board has agreed to increase the salaries of its garment workers by 10%. This is a significant victory for the UBCA, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The UBCA is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

WILL ADVISE TALKERS

Washington, D. C.—The War Relocation Authority (WRA) has announced that it will advise talkers who are being held in the WRA camps. The WRA is arguing that the talkers are a threat to the security of the United States. They are also arguing that the talkers are a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the talkers and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU TEXTILE UNION HAS WINS

Portland, Me.—The American Federation of Union Textile Workers (AFUTW) has won a wage increase from the Portland Textile Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its textile workers by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFUTW, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFUTW is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

TEAMSTERS DEMAND RAISE

Miami, Fla.—Employees of Swift & Company, a teamster union, are demanding a wage increase from the company. The company has refused to grant the increase. The employees are arguing that the company is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the company and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

LAUNDRY WORKERS SUE

Washington, D. C.—The Laundry Workers Union has filed a lawsuit against the United States Department of Labor. The union is arguing that the department is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the department and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

CARPENTERS GET CHARTER

Minneapolis, Minn.—A new charter for the Minneapolis Carpenters Union has been granted by the Minnesota State Board of Labor Relations. The charter provides for a 10% wage increase for the union's members. This is a significant victory for the union, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The union is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

WILL ADVISE TALKERS

Washington, D. C.—The War Relocation Authority (WRA) has announced that it will advise talkers who are being held in the WRA camps. The WRA is arguing that the talkers are a threat to the security of the United States. They are also arguing that the talkers are a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the talkers and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

NAVY UNIONS GROWING

Navy unions are growing rapidly, according to a report by the Navy Department. The report states that the number of Navy employees who are members of unions has increased by 10% in the past year. This is a significant victory for the unions, as it shows that they are able to attract new members. The unions are also arguing that the report is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the report and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company. The company has agreed to increase the salaries of its coal miners by 10%. This is a significant victory for the AFU, as it shows that the union is able to negotiate better wages for its members. The AFU is also arguing that the raise is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. They are calling on the government to take action to prevent the raise and to ensure that workers have the right to negotiate their own terms.

AFU UNION WIN W. VA

Richmond, W. Va.—Members of the American Federation of Union (AFU) have won a wage increase from the West Virginia Coal and Coke